BONFIRE NIGHT

Bonfire Night is celebrated every year on the 5th November.

It's a special evening for young and old with big fires, fireworks and plenty of food and drink.

It's a typically English tradition and lots of fun.

THE GUY FAWKES TRADITION

This began after 1605, when Guy Fawkes and twelve other young men tried to destroy Parliament in London. They were unsuccessful.

Since that time, the English have burnt a figure of Guy Fawkes every year. This unusual tradition still exists today and children often make their own Guy Fawkes dressed in old clothes.

FIREWORK PARTIES

In the 20th century many families had parties in their gardens. However, there were often accidents as fires and fireworks are dangerous, especially for children.

Now, there are many organised events with magnificent fireworks, often in parks. Many people travel a long way to see the show and pay an entrance fee which is used for good causes.
